Seminar Has Last Meeting

Meeting for the last time this year, the Marshall-Wythe Seminar will discuss "The International Control of Minorities," tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 p. m. in Rogers 212.

Like this year's first meeting of the Seminar, Thursday's session will be a faculty panel composed of Dr. H. A. Freeman, as chairman, Miss Evelyn Acomb, acting assistant professor of history, and Miss Arlene Murray, instructor in government.

According to Dr. Charles F. Marsh, this week's Seminar, as well as discussing the topic in question, will summarize and bring out some of the points not touched or emphasized in the previous meetings this year.

Mortar Board Taps Monday

Eleanor Graham Talks At Annual Convocation

Miss Eleanor Graham, Williamsburg poetess, will be the guest speaker at the annual Mortar Board "tapping" in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Monday, May 7, at 7:30 p. m. Miss Graham has written a volume of poetry, "For These Moments," and is now doing research work for the Williamsburg Restoration.

The Mortar Board Convocation is for the purpose of selecting a number of junior women for membership on the Board. The girls are chosen for three qualifications: service, scholarship, and leadership.

Grace Duvoisin, president of the Mortar Board, will direct the convocation. The other members are Nancy Carnegie, Nellie Greaves, Virginia Lee, Eleanor Harvey, Sunny Maneval and Marilyn Kammerle. Barbara Sanford, (the eighth member) graduated in August, 1944.

The identity of the women who have already been chosen by the Board, will not be known to the women themselves nor the student body until the time of the convocation. When the junior has been "tapped" by one of the present members, a mortar board will be placed on her head and she will go to the stage where a list of her qualifications is read.

Besides the "tapping", the annual Scholarship Award will be given to the sophomore woman who has had the highest scholastic average during her two years at William and Mary.

Initiation of the new Mortar Board members will be on Tuesday, May 8, at 10:00 p. m. in the Great Hall.

Reviewer Says:

"Private Lives" Production Proves Entertaining To Audience

By CONNIE CONWAY

Climaxing a year of four dramatic productions, the William and Mary Theatre players presented Noel Coward's farce, Private Lives, last Wednesday and Thursday nights in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Private Lives proved to many to be the most entertaining presentation of the year, and it would be difficult to determine who was the outstanding player in the cast. Perhaps laurels for that distinction should go to Betty Driscoll, who made her final appearance on the Phi Beta stage as Sibyl Chase, Elyot's second wife. As the little mother's darling infatuated with her new husband and insatiably curious about his first wife Amanda, she gave to the part exactly what it needed. Perhaps she was merely being herself, but one does not have to camouflage one's personality to turn in a good performance.

Of the three other main characters, it is hard to say who was the most stellar. . . all were good in their parts because they suited them well. Bob Hayne's return to the William and Mary stage as Elyot, the handsome and witty husband claimed by a former wife and a present wife, topped all expectations in his portrayal. He managed to be suave and sophisticated in getting his small talk across the footlights without being amateurish.

Jean Ferebee, also in her last appearance on the College stage, was charming as the beautiful and unpredictable Amanda, who ran away with her former husband after discovering that her honeymoon suite with a new husband adjoined that of Elyot's with his new wife. The only flaw really apparent in her appearance on the first night was her noticeably bad posture. Amanda was the sort of person who carried herself well, and the fact that Jean overlooked this tended to detract from the sparkle of her role.

Clint Atkinson, as Victor Prynn, the serious and very-much-in-love second husband of Amanda's was well suited to his part. He was a very convincing Victor, and showed promise of a bright future in his type of character on the campus stage.

In the small but amusing role of Louise, the sniffling French maid, Thelma Myers also made her college debut. Giving to her tiny part the humor it should have had, she effectively left out the "ham" that could have crept into the role.

Orchids should go to Miss Althea Hunt for her painstaking direction of the comedy. The excellent cast she had chosen could not possibly have pleased the audience as they did had it not been for her many hours of training and worry.

Mr. John Boyt's sets, the terrace of the hotel at Deauville and Amanda's Paris flat, were two of the most eye-appealing on the stage this year. The weeks of work put in by the stage crews were well worth the effect the sets had upon the audience.

The costumes were perhaps meant to convey a sophisticated atmosphere, but Amanda's negligee, dinner dress, and lounging pajamas somehow did not seem up to the par of the rest of the play. It is hard to determine what she should have worn, but one feels that there must have been something more attractive than those outfits chosen.

As one faculty member was heard to remark, "There wasn't one instant during the entire play when I wished I could have a cigarette," which seems to indicate how very entertaining the play was for the audience.

Evelyn M. Acomb Favors Non-Perfectionist Policy

Professor Declares World Faces International Chaos Or Alliances

By GINNY TOWNES

Dr. Evelyn M. Acomb, Acting Assistant Professor of History became interested in international relations and history when she was attending high school in a Chicago suburb and when she was in pursuit of her B. A. degree at Wellesley. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, she won the Alice Freeman Palmer scholarship from Wellesley which she used at Columbia University to study for her Masters degree in history.

After teaching in preparatory schools in Illinois, California, and New York, Miss Acomb returned to Columbia to take her Ph. D. Her dissertation, which was published in 1941, was written as a Study of Anti-Clericalism in France in the 1830's.

Travels In Europe

In the summer of 1939, Miss Acomb spent three months traveling in England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, France and Italy. Although Europeans warned her that the war would come with the harvest, she stayed on watching the grain slowly ripen while she toured Switzerland. In the Hague in Holland she overheard Dutch women predicting that the war would begin in September. Relinquishing her plans to stay in Paris for further work on her dissertation, she reached Glasgow, Scotland, when the storm of war broke.

Miss Acomb's mother agreed finally that her daughter has shown sense in studying international law when Miss Acomb turned in tickets she had secured on a British liner. The ship, Athenia, on which she probably would have sailed, was sunk during its Atlantic crossing.

At Liverpool, England, Miss Acomb learned to use a gas mask and to expect an air raid, but she succeeded in securing passage on an American liner before the blitz began. Crowded with 180 other persons on a ship with capacity for 50, she discovered the meaning of fear and panic on the high seas. Several days after embarkation her ship was called upon to answer an S. O. S. and to pick up the surviving crew of a torpedoed Scotch freighter.

Positions of various types are open in six different cities: Schenectady, Bridgeport, Lynn and Pittsfield (Massachusetts), Syracuse, and Fort Wayne.

Mr. H. Ledyard Towle has requested that interested students come to the Placement Bureau at once, procure interview blanks, to fill them out, and bring them to the interview.

worked at the State Department in Washington doing research for Post-War Planning. There she had an inside view of the workings of the government and free access to state cablegrams, the libraries of the State Department, and the Library of Congress.

In September 1943, Miss Acomb came to William and Mary to teach army classes and other students of history. She said that she has enjoyed her first experience of teaching in a co-educational institution because her colleagues have been pleasant to work with and her scholars also.

Interest In Peace Plans

Miss Acomb hopes to make further research in French history and to travel to Mexico, the far east, and Europe again. Especially interested in the Dumbarton Oaks and San Francisco Conferences, she said, "It seems that the alternatives to an international organization are international chaos or military alliances that won't be permanent. One should not be a perfectionist. These conferences are definite steps in the right direction."

Campus Entertainers Amuse Audience With Slapstick Comedy Performance

By JUNE HALLER

Opening the Y. W. C. A. Campus Smoker Saturday night, Mistress of Ceremonies Arlene (Bacall) Murray, clad in a black jersey dinner dress, wowed all the potential Humphrey Bogarts in the audience with her "Anybody got a match?"

Harry Stinson burlesqued the "eager-beaver" FLAT HAT reporter getting close to the scene of action as Miss Murray introduced the welcoming committee of ten bits of feminine pulchritude who descended to the audience to procure escorts. Returning to the stage, they sang Put Your Arms Around Me and an original medley—then lights off—lights on again—red faces—exit chorus line.

Senorita Your-Guess-Is-As-Good-As-Amy and her "Sad Sack Caballeros"—otherwise known as the Picadilly Quintet—did the next act. Henry Shook and his flower-hat and other paraphernalia swayed back and forth at the piano to Is You Is Or Is You Ain't My Baby? and Pin-Ball Paul.

Begin the Beguine, Where or When and Nola were rendered by Ginger Wright and Mary Lou Strong at the two pianos. They also doubled as furniture movers.

Cherry Hillyard sang Through The Years and Come To My Heart and encoored with Indian Love Call, with Barbara Davis accompanying on the piano.

Madame La Nina, the opera star, was portrayed by Nancy Outland, despite the distraction caused by Dee Waring and Bill White, arriving late—and formal. After preliminary "arias," Nancy gave out with Stuff Like That There and I'll Take A Villian.

Such obnoxious dance gremlins as the pumper, the crooner, the conversationalist, lover, hep-cat and wolf were exposed by Jay McQuat and Becky Bechtol.

The Tyler Quartet, in appropriate stages of barber-shop "inebriation", sang the song that made them famous—Have A Beer At Chowning's—also I Love Java, The Girl I Left Behind, Dear Old Girl, and If I Had My Way, Dear.

Anna Belle Koenig gave an "illustrated" lecture on Me-hi-co, Land of Romance.

Amid many shrieks, white-faced Tommy Smith was brought in on a stretcher and revived by a Flintheart vitamin pill to imitate You-know-who with The Music Stopped. Tommy was the door prize and was presented to Cuppy Myers, holder of ticket no. 30 at the climax and finals of the program.

Turk; the right to be first in the cafeteria line all day; two late permissions for freshmen women; serenades by the Kappa Taus and the Sovereigns; a mid-night snack basket; and various other things.

Climaxing the evening's entertainment will be the coronation of the 1945 War Bond Queen and the presentation of her court at intermission. Voting by stamps and bonds for the six candidates, Mary Jane Chamberlain, Eleanor Harvey, Joan Parker, Joyce LeCraw, Betty Aurell and Jane Welton who were nominated last Monday and Tuesday, will be continued until shortly before the court ceremonies begin. The amount of sales in the candidates' names will determine the choice of the Queen. The Women Students' Co-operative Government Association will furnish the labor and money for the presentation of the queen and her ladies-in-waiting.

Harriett Irvin, chairman of the War Council, has appealed to all students to give their heartiest support to the Seventh War Loan Drive and to attend the festival with or without dates.

College Farm Furnishes "Chicken Every Sunday"

Stanley Mason, Former Supervisor, Shows Poultry Throughout Country

By BOBBIE STEELY

Chicken every Sunday is almost a certainty in William and Mary's cafeteria. With the present meat shortage so acute, the college farm, located on the site of the old OCC project, assumes added importance. Mr. E. B. Saunders, college landscape architect, has helped with the management of the farm for some years. "The farm was abandoned several times because it didn't pay," explained Mr. Saunders, "but when the war started, the government decreed that all state institutions raise all the vegetables possible."

Actually, the farm specializes in poultry, 16,000 chickens in all, with 500 baby chicks shipped in weekly. A fire last Christmas drew a large crowd to the farm in which 15,000 chickens were destroyed or lost.

Mr. Stanley Mason, poultry show judge and one of the best known chicken fanciers in the country, supervised the farm until last week end, when he left to show his prize poultry in meetings all over the country. Sixty-seven year old Mr. Mason has shown standard bred poultry, water-fowl, pigeons, and wild game in great quantities. Upon meeting him, most people are impressed with his unique personality. "Yes Sar," mumbles Mr. Mason to a bewildered non-chicken fancier, "I've worked nine to twelve hours a day and done all my own cooking—although I married twice."

The farm itself is under strict supervision and meticulous sanitary conditions. It consists of many buildings. Brooder houses for young chicks remain at a temperature of 70° and contain batters (wire cages off the floor) which keep the chickens from developing muscles and also keep them clean. The killing house, to which all the poultry comes after a 10 week life span, is kept immaculate. A large oaken block, on which the chickens' heads are chopped off, stands next to a bleeding rack. From here the fowl are placed in an automatic feather picker and then, dipped in hot and cold water alternately. Formerly the farm had hogs, vegetables, and chickens. Now just enough food is raised to feed the fowl and to sell on the market as is necessary to pay running expenses.

Sovereigns Have Dance Next Friday

For their third social function of the year the Sovereign Club is holding its spring formal this Friday, May 4, from 8:30 to 12 midnight in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Various committees have been appointed, with Bob Orebaugh in charge of obtaining flowers, and Tom Campbell, Carl Lunsford and Bill Mace are taking care of refreshments. Lee Lively is chairman of the decorations committee and the entire fraternity will help out on them. The Sovereigns are planning a novel idea of flowers. Cards will be sent with the flowers to the men's dates saying that they are from the Sovereigns Club and not from the individual member himself.

The Camp Peary Band will play for the occasion.

The Sovereigns' other social functions were a dance and a banquet. The dance was held last semester and the beauty queen of the school was chosen then. Their banquet was held last week at the Lodge.

Old Students Bottles, Doulis Reported Dead

Lieutenant Joseph John Bottalico, "Bottles," class of '44x, a flyer in the Marine Air Corps, was killed in aerial action Friday, April 20, on Ie Jima, the same island where Ernie Pyle was killed by Jap snipers a few days earlier. "Bottles" was stationed on Saipan and made regular bombing missions from that base until his recent death.

He played on the freshman football squad, and in his sophomore year was a member of the varsity team. Last year he was reported killed in a train accident, but the report proved false when it was discovered that only his baggage was on the train.

In the March 22, 1944 issue of The FLAT HAT a letter to the editor from "Bottles" was published expressing his surprise and sorrow on reading of the death in action of his former roommate John Grembowitz. According to those who knew "Bottles" he was popular among his classmates, and known all over the campus for his enthusiasm for the College, and his kindness and generosity.

Also reported killed in an automobile accident near Frederick, Maryland, April 25, was Private Paul P. Doulis, former student and chemistry lab instructor here during the 1941-1942 semesters. His home was in Hopewell, Virginia, and he entered the Army after leaving the College in 1942.

Students who have had no experience but are interested in Government employment in the above fields of work are invited to apply for the Junior Professional Assistant examination. College education may be substituted for experience, on the basis of one year of education for six months of experience.

Positions will be filled by open competitive examination. No written test is required. Applications will be accepted by the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., until May 15, 1945.

Appointments will be War Service appointments, and are to extend for the duration of the war and no more than six months after.

Modern Museum of Art Presents Exhibit, "From Sketch to Stage"

Four Broadway productions, Othello, Romeo and Juliet, The Magic Flute, and Oklahoma are represented in the present exhibit "From Sketch to Stage" in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The display tells a picture story of the productions in the process of creation, the final staging being the result of careful preparation and well coordinated teamwork involving many artists, technicians, and craftsmen.

In a display of some of the designing which went into the production of Othello in which Paul Robeson starred, a sketch of costume worn by Robeson is done in water colors with a sample of the final material shown. The exactness of the matching of the costumes to the color schemes for sets is shown in several of the posters.

Final stage settings may be first sketched on a telegram blank, the back of an envelope or almost any available scrap paper. From that first sketch, many other drawings are made including exact blueprints of stage layouts and water color, paintings of color schemes, as shown in the Romeo and Juliet production.

In the display of material used for The Magic Flute, one can see the technical directions for lighting, and moving props coordinated with the music.

The display also includes a copy of the original score written by Richard Rodgers for Oklahoma. Sketches of the dance scenes as well as stage directions for the members of the cast are shown.

The exhibit was sent to William and Mary by the Modern Museum of Art in New York.

At long last the Indians were able to open their 1945 track season. They celebrated the occasion by trampling Gallaudet. The squad has come a long way since practice began and if they fare as well in their remaining meets, they should have a very successful season. Coaches Knox and Bass have done a good job in a short time. Congratulations also to a fighting Gallaudet squad, who, though greatly undermanned, gave their utmost in every event.

William and Mary's tennis squad will really hit big league competition when they face the star-studded aggregation of North Carolina Preflight. It will be the year's stiffest competition and here's wishing the boys a lot of luck.

—WM—

The baseball season of 1944 opened under a cloud of uncertainty and doubt. Many dire predictions were forthcoming concerning the calibre of the players and the demands of Selective Service. Some even prophesied the collapse of the majors before July. Undaunted by this flood of pessimism, the National and American Leagues completed their full schedules and the World Series occurred as usual. For the first time it was an all-St. Louis struggle, the Browns having nailed down their first flag since the founding of the league in 1900.

Encouraged by these events, players and fans alike adopted a more cheerful outlook concerning the game's fourth wartime season. Now, with two weeks of the campaign having gone into the record books, this confidence seems entirely justified. The quality of play is much better than had been expected. Errors have not been too numerous and several shutouts have been posted. Experience will pay off in big dividends this year, as in the case of Paul Derringer. The Cubs' veteran hurler has hung up a victory in each of his three starts, accounting for half of his team's first six triumphs.

The performances of the rookies have been particularly encouraging. Russ Derry, Yankee left fielder, slammed out two homers on opening day. Steve Filipowicz, ex-Fordham football star who now holds down first base for the Giants, in a game last week connected for a single, two doubles, and a home run in five trips.

In all probability no one will show up to fill the shoes of DiMaggio, Williams, or Feller, but there will be some reasonably accurate facsimiles. Some of the players who have jumped from leagues of Class B or C ratings may not click at first but they will improve. Another rookie, in a way, is the new High Commissioner, Senator Albert "Happy" Chandler. Though he'll never be able to take the place of the late Judge Landis, he will undoubtedly do a good job.

The important thing is that baseball will continue, bolstered by its millions of fans. Come hell or high water, they will continue to back it in the spirit that has made the game America's National Pastime.

Theta, Pi Phi, Chandler Lead In Intramural Softball League

Chi Omega, Alpha Chi Are Also Undefeated

Winding up the second week of Softball Intramurals, Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi, Chandler's "A" teams and Gamma Phi Beta's "B" team played winning games. Beside these teams, the result of the first week's Intramural Softball game, add Chi Omega, and Alpha Chi Omega to the undefeated list.

In the first week, Chi Omega decisively defeated Pi Beta Phi by a score of 9-2, the Tri Deltas eked out a close 5-4 victory over Kappa Kappa Gamma, while Theta in her game with Gamma Phi Beta displayed her strength through a 8-0 lead over Gamma Phi Beta. Ending the games of the week of April 18, Alpha Chi Omega in a five inning match won a 11-8 victory over Kappa Delta.

This last week of intramural games was started by an exciting game between Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma. Starting the game off with a bang, the Kappas knocked in four runners and the Thetas made three runs in the first inning. Tension reached its peak in the fifth inning. Starting out with a tie score of 6 all, Betty Kah of Kappa made a run putting Kappa out in front 7-6. Theta then came up to bat in her last inning. The tide of the game turned when both Barbara Hughes and "Sugie" Hartnell crossed home plate putting their Theta team in the winning position by a close score of 8-7.

On the same day Chandler challenged Monroe. Pushing forward by a big lead, Chandler knocked in 8 runs while Monroe only got two in the first inning. Not to be so easily defeated, Monroe staged a steady comeback in the third and fourth inning when she knocked in five runs, making the score in the fourth inning 9-7 in favor of Chandler. With Joan Koonsman crossing home plate in the fifth inning, the game went decisively, however, to Chandler by a score of 10-7.

Completing the weeks record of stiff competition in the Softball Intramurals, Kappa Delta met Pi Beta Phi and a real battle ensued. Within the first two innings, Phi Beta Phi got all her 6 runs of the game. Kappa Delta, however, with one run in the first inning, made 2 in the second and one in both the 3 and 5 innings, making the score 6-5 in favor of Pi Beta Phi in the fifth. The next two innings were both aggressive with each team trying to insure a lead. The result was no more hits, and the game wound up with a 6-5 victory for Pi Beta Phi.

The only other game of the week was the forfeited "B" league game of Kappa Gamma to the Gamma Phi Betas "B" team.

Those games which were not played this last week because of rain will be played in the future. The schedule for these make up games will be posted on the bulletin boards in the near future out side of Jefferson.

Indians Annex Ten First Places In Opening Conquest of Season

Netters Encounter Richmond Squad

Country Club of Virginia Plays Host To Redmen

William and Mary's tennis squad, improving greatly with each match, journeyed to Richmond on Saturday, May 5, to take on the Country Club of Virginia.

Not much is known about their opponents except that they include most of the city's best players. Jimmy Mitchell, the Club's pro, was an outstanding player of former years and has put together a good squad. Shelton Horsley, a three-letter man at St. Christopher's prep school, is the city's highest ranking junior. One of their other men is Fred Valentine, veteran of many year's experience. The club's ace of a few years back, Bobby Leach, has entered the service.

Duke's Blue Devils were slated to meet the Indians in Richmond on Friday, but the plans didn't materialize. The V-12 students on the squad are subject to the 48-hour Navy rule and can be away no longer than that. It was thought that Duke could stop off in Richmond on the way to play Navy. However, this couldn't be arranged and the match was cancelled.

Another match has been scheduled for the Tri-color which will be the stiffest test of the year. On May 19 they tangle with North Carolina Pre-flight on the latter's home courts. The Cloudbusters are strong straight down the line and include three of the country's topflight players.

Intramural News

Handball intramurals have now been completed, with Tom Campbell the victor over Bob Sherry, 21-9, 21-18, in the final match. Campbell beat Hornsby, Pirkle, Hewitt, Zepht, and Hudgins on the road to victory.

Coach Rawlinson has announced that the swimming meet will be held on Tuesday, May 8. Entries must be turned in on the afternoon of the meet. The events are the 50 yard breast stroke, 50 yard back stroke, 50 yard crawl, 100 yard crawl, one man medley and four man relay with each man swimming two lengths. Each club must have at least two men in each event, and one man may enter only three events. Medals will be given only to the winning relay team.

The horseshoe tournament is almost completed to the quarter-finals, and the deadline for finals is May 12. So far, Wright, Baker, Pope, Tench, Trempus, Canoles, and Drake have reached the quarter-finals.

Kappa Tau continues to lead the softball league with three victories and one defeat. The Sovereigns and Phi Deltas are tied for second place, having two victories and two defeats.

Last week the Sovereigns defeated Tyler 17-13, Kappa Tau edged out Phi Delta Pi 3-2, and the Sovereigns swamped the Phi Delta 11-1. The Tyler Tigers defeated the Kappa Taus 8-1 in a spirited game.

Gallaudet Bows As Tri-Color Accumulates 60-Point Margin

In their first meet of the year, held last Saturday, the William and Mary cindermen whipped Gallaudet 96½ to 34½.

The Indians took 10 out of 15 firsts, only relinquishing that place in the mile, 440 yard dash, pole vault, 880 yard dash and the two mile run. Bob DeForest of the Tribe won two first places and a second to be the high scorer. DeForest won the discus and javelin events and placed second in the shot put.

Kubis, from Gallaudet, seemed to have an extra push at the end of his races which put him out in front. In the 440 yard run Buddy Canoles led all the way, but Kubis had something extra and passed him just before the finish line. In the 880 yard run Giudice of the Tribe led all the way and again Kubis won in the last five or ten yards. Dick Baker was a strong contestant in the two mile run, sticking close to Hines through the entire race, only to lose out in the end to the Gallaudet man.

Redmen Conquer Byrd Park Squad

Tribe Posts 6-3 Triumph Over Richmond Netters

Coach Sharvey Umbeck's tennis squad added another scalp to their collection last Sunday, playing host to the Byrd Park Club of Richmond and trimming them, 6-3.

The Indians were victorious in four singles and two doubles matches with only one match of the entire nine requiring more than two sets.

Tut Bartzan, number one man of the Tribe, maintained his spectacular record of not having been on the short end of a decision since the season started. He conquered Atwood, 6-2, 6-2, displaying some shots which his opponent could only wave at.

Bren Macken, playing in the number two slot, disposed of Frank Hartz in a pair of rapid sets, 6-0, 6-2.

The number three spot matched Bob Doll against Sam Woods. Doll got off to a bad start, dropping five of the first six games and trailing love-forty in the seventh. He rallied, however, to pull it out of the fire and then took five in a row to chalk up a 7-5 decision. He took the next set in a more orthodox manner, 6-3.

Captain Bert Rance was pitted against Alan Stauby at number four. There were a brace of hard fought sets with Rance winning by 6-4, 7-5.

Pat Ellison, playing number five, couldn't seem to find the range against Paul Pollard and bowed in love sets. The match point came on a shot which hit the net and trickled over.

Don Haselwood of the Byrd Park squad downed Mike Hopkins, 6-1, 6-1.

Bartzan and Macken, enhancing their undefeated doubles record, breezed to an easy 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Atwood and Stauby.

In the longest match of the day Rance and Doll took Pollard and Hartz by scores of 7-5, 5-7, 6-1.

In the third spot, Scott and Taylor lost to Woods and Haselwood, 5-7, 0-6.

The women's squad gained a decision 6-1 victory. Jo Ann Dunn trimmed Mrs. Whipple, 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Haselwood lost to Betty Coumbe, 3-6, 1-6. Elaine Passow defeated Mrs. Burgess 6-3, 6-0. Barbara Davis took Miss Webster, 6-4, 6-0; and Dot Bait-sell hung up a 6-2, 7-5 win over Mrs. Nichols.

In the doubles Coumbe and Dunn took two 6-1 sets from Whipple and Haselwood. The only loss came when Burgess and Webster beat Marjorie Oak and Gloria McCauley, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The 100 yard dash was won easily by the Tri-color, with Denver Mills taking in a first in the event, with Dale Parker and Bob Sherry running right behind him. Mills also took a first in the 220 yard low hurdles. Jimmy Weddle and Vito Regazzo, two other Tribe men, ran second and third respectively.

In the mile relay, Bob Sherry built up a fair lead on the first lap, and this was never seriously threatened. Canoles was the last man, and he breezed in an easy winner.

The results of the meet are as follows:

SHOT PUT—Won by Mackiewicz (W-M); second, DeForest (W-M); third, Creekmur (W-M). Distance, 39 feet, 4 3/4 inches.

MILE RUN—Won by Hines (G); second, Marshall (G); third, Hewitt (W-M). Time, 4:55 minutes.

With Advertisers

Mr. H. Ledyard Towle was entertained at the Williamsburg Lodge last Wednesday night by a group of students in his advertising class who call themselves the "Arm Twisters," an advertising agency for Teletone. Champagne cocktails were served in the lounge before dinner, and following the meal, the eight agency representatives present discussed with Mr. Towle the uses of radio and television in the post war world. They also presented two finished lay-outs. Mr. Towle, whose account has been widely sought by the Forge, Pen Dragon, and Chi Phi Nu Agencies, rival groups from the advertising class, showed particular interest in one lay-out in color that would be appropriate for advertising in magazines of the class of Fortune. Another ink drawing suitable for magazines such as Time or New Yorker was examined.

he studied under Olga Samaroff-Stokowski.

Before his entrance into the Navy, Mr. Harris taught at the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music and the Iowa State Teachers' College; he has also appeared in concerts in the east and middle-west. He has been soloist on the programs of various symphony orchestras, including the Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia Orchestras.

Fanny Harris and Henry Harris have played together frequently in ensemble and chamber music, and Mrs. Harris is a soloist in her own right. Her teachers have included the violinist and composer Boris Koutzen, and she was formerly a member of the Philadelphia Women's Symphony Orchestra, and the Houston Symphony Orchestra, and for several years was on the faculty of the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music.

Mr. Towle has divided his class into five agencies. Each agency is working on a special project such as the use of air line travel, pre-fabricated houses, helicopters, and deep freeze units in the post-war world. Mr. Towle lectures, discusses advertising theory, and the text book during classes for two weeks. While he is on business trips for the following two weeks, his students use their own initiative in applying the previously learned theory to their own projects.

The Arm Twisters Agency first discussed the class to which they would appeal and then decided to apply the competitive stage for putting their idea over to the public. Nancy Weeks, president, Tom Dingle, vice-president, and Fritz Zepht, contact representative, aided Danny Goldenberg, head of research, in gathering material, graphs, charts, and statistics that illustrate the number of jobs in the post-war world in television. Elaine Hall acted as copy manager, and Joan Kueffner, as art director. The members of the agency entertained Mr. Towle at dinner just as an established New York concern would do in order to win an account.

Mr. Towle plans to have the lay-outs sent to Baltimore for regular type so that the posters will be like those of any real advertising agency. An effort is being made to find a place in which the work of the class can be exhibited near the end of the semester.

Main gripe on campus for the past months has been the lack of places to date. The opening of a game room at the Inn by the Restoration has aroused much comment on campus. Your inquiring reporter asked the following students, "Do you want a room opened up at the Inn for students and their dates?"

Bucky Hyle: "It should have been opened long ago. It'll be wonderful next year."

Jean Myers: "It's a wonderful idea. It will give us something to do Friday nights besides going to the show!"

Donnie Lepper: "It's about time—absolutely nothing to do in this town."

Bert Rance: "The Administration is still evading the issue. We wanted someplace to date on campus. If the room at the Inn is opened, we'll never get one on campus—but it's better than nothing."

Bee Rose: "It's about time the town and College got together and decided that the students needed some place to go."

Knox Ramsey: "The administration's excuse for not having a Union this year is lack of help, but the students are willing to work and help. We would only need one paid worker."

Enthusiasm Lags In WAM Effort To Clean Campus

WAM clean-up day took place as scheduled on Saturday afternoon, April 28. The drive was a general clean-up campaign for certain areas of the campus, sponsored by the various clubs in the College.

Although all clubs were notified, the Student Religious Club, the French, Spanish, Biology, and Dramatic Clubs were absent, according to Jean Morgan, chairman of the WAM clean-up committee, who added that those who did come "did a fine job."

Pam Pauly, president of the Y. W. C. A., and a number of Y. W. C. A. members put up the guide lines to prevent campus cutting. Members of the Monogram Club, with Ann Vineyard, president, combined with members of Orchestis to clean up the area around Blow Gymnasium. German Club members swept the walks around Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Previously, clean-up was done by the dorms, but recently the project was planned for distribution among the campus clubs.

Record Snatches and Catches

By BOBBIE STEELY

Snatches:

Sinatra eschewed a concert in Boston to attend the fights. Critics claim his popularity is quickly waning.—A Blue Network attache asked Wayne King for his opinion of a saxophone solo which was being played on a record in an adjoining office at the radio station. "Not very good," replied the ex-major, "he hasn't any tone." The recording was a transcription of the recent Ellington broadcast and the sax player was Johnny Hodges, voted best alto man in the land for the past five years.—MGM "nixed" a deal for Judy Garland to head her own radio program.—When Lily Pons, touring overseas, couldn't make a recent broadcast, the replacement was Oscar Levant.—Fred Waring's Carnegie Concert April 28 presented the world premiere of Norman Dello Joio's Symphony for voice and orchestra, based on Stephen Vincent Benet's poem, Western Star.—Duke Ellington, who was so successfully received at his Chicago Opera House jazz concert, and Billy Strayhorn have a fine opening line for their newest song, "I gave the best years of my life to the blues."

Harry James is sure his drummer problem is solved with his acquisition of Ray Toland, ex-service man who stands six feet four and a half inches and wears a size 15 shoe. Davey Coleman, James' old drummer, was too light to hold the big James crew to the beat, it was said.

A well-known Hollywood musician was called for Army duty, assigned to an Armed forces radio unit in Hollywood where he played radio shows and made records. A short time later he drew a medical discharge and is now playing radio shows and making records.—Dinah Shore will do three Bing Crosby's shows while he's overseas this summer.—Rudy Vallee has made his first phonograph records in four years with waxing of four sides for a new company headed by Freddie Martin.

Where are they?—Frankie Carl at Hollywood Paladium. Tony Pastor at Chicago's College Inn. Lionel Hampton at New York's Zanzibar. Cab Calloway in Boston. Tommy Dorsey in Detroit. Artie Shaw in San Francisco.

Catches:

Heavy Laden—Joe Sullivan.
Night and Day
The Blizzard—Louis Prima
Body and Soul—Benny Goodman.

South American Scholars Present Books To Library

Scholars and publishers of literature and history in Colombia and Venezuela are presenting a considerable number of literary and historical works related to the South American Republics to the library of the College of William and Mary, according to Dr. E. G. Swem, Librarian Emeritus. "To the memory of Alexander MacCauley, born, 1737, in Yorktown, Virginia, died, 1813, in Pasto, Colombia; a martyr in the cause of South American independence."

Alexander MacCauley, related to distinguished Williamsburg families, was the most conspicuous hero of the United States in the independence of the South American Republics, according to the William and Mary Quarterly Magazine. His success at the city of Popayan in surprising the royalist's camp obtained for him the title of Lieutenant Colonel. Styled by the Spaniards as "the commandant of the insurgents," MacCauley was executed in Pasto in 1813. His brother Francis MacCauley was a graduate of William and Mary.

The memorial collection was presented to the library of the College at the suggestion made by Dr. Swem before his retirement and with the cooperation of Mr. Enrique Naranjo, Colombian historian and importer, of Boston, Massachusetts.

In a recent letter to Miss Galphin, Mr. Naranjo acknowledged the announcement that his book entitled Puntadas de Historia will be the number one book in the collection. He said that the Bogota daily, El Tiempo, the leading political paper in Colombia there appeared a long article about the project which he hoped would result Colombian authors sending their works to the collection.

Among the books recently received from Colombia and Venezuela are Las guerras de Bolivar, history of the American emancipation; Historia de la Gran Colombia, ecclesiastical and civil history of the New Granada; La Cancion del Camonante; La Voz en el Eco, book of verses by Carlos Lopez Narvaes; Vida de Don Antonio Jose de Sucre Gran Mariscal de Ayacucho; El Regimen Constitucional En Colombia en Los Estados Unidos; Rusumen della Historia De Venezuela; Una Interpretacion Juridica de las convenciones Reglamentaria del Concordato en Colombia; Revista de la Universidad del Cauca.

These volumes are being held until book plates arrive from the printer. As soon as the books are available they will be on display for the information of the students registering for courses concerned with Latin America.

Writer of Weekly Column Likes Reading, Drawing

Fred Frechette Shows Dramatic Ability; Wins Re-election to Men's Honor Council

By PATTY LOU YOUNG

Fred Frechette, author of William and Mary Go-Round, the weekly column in The FLAT HAT, has been an active student during his three years here.

Born in Holyoke, Massachusetts, he attended Rindge Technical High school in Cambridge, Massachusetts, before coming to William and Mary in the summer of 1942. During his first year here he was vice-president of the freshman class, and has been on the Student Assembly for two years. In the summer of 1944 he served on the Honor Council and was a member of the Dorm Committee. This fall he served on Freshman Tribunal and was a cheerleader. In the recent election, Fred was elected a Senior member of the Men's Honor Council. He demonstrated his dramatic ability by taking the male lead in two college theatre productions, Quality Street and Volpone. Fred is also a member of I. R. C. the Backdrop Club, Presidents' Aides, the Sovereigns, and Phi Kappa Tau.

Fred Frechette, author of William and Mary Go-Round, and newly elected Senior member of the Men's Honor Council.

Fred's first love is William and Mary and "the kids in it." He enjoys skiing, swimming, and reading, his favorite book being Barefoot Boy with Cheek, a satire on college life. He also draws murals on the walls of his room to keep his roommate, Tommy Smith, amused. Last fall he and Tommy killed 794 flies in their room. They are very proud of their record.

Fred says his favorite people are those who work on The FLAT HAT because they work so hard and get so little credit. His present pet peeve, besides the many others mentioned in his column, is social rules. When asked to recount an amusing incident he said, "I have to go into hibernation and do Yogi exercises for 24 hours, and then when I finally think of something funny, no one appreciates it and then I'm sorry I went to all that trouble."

After having received his honorable discharge from the Navy on August 13, 1943, Fred is going back into service in the Army at the end of next month. He is going to be a War Correspondent for The FLAT HAT next year, giving an account of the service men's lives and what they think about. Majoring in economics, Fred plans to return to William and Mary to obtain his degree.

Students Receive Peary Permission

Following consideration by the Judicial Committee, with the help of the faculty advisory committee, women students will be allowed to visit the officers club at Camp Peary on Saturdays from 5:00 p. m. to 12:00 midnight, according to the announcement made at the WSCGA meeting Monday night. Students must go to and from the camp on the regular busses which run at rush hours every fifteen minutes, and at slightly longer intervals at other times. There will be a special bus leaving Camp Peary between 11:30 and 11:45 p. m. for College students and their dates, and all students at the officers' club must return on that bus.

Girls planning to go to the camp must sign out with their housemothers designating Camp Peary as their destination. Signing out must be done in person, as doing so by telephone will not be considered sufficient.

It was also announced that the senior riding-in-cars permission begins May 14, and the rules as stated in the handbook must be followed. Seniors may only ride to Camp Peary in cars until 7:00 p. m.

Shirley Sprague, WSCGA treasurer, announced that all absence fines must be paid by May 14. Students not paying them will not receive their Colonial Echo until all fines are paid.

A Fable . . . . . . Shades of Aesop

Once, long, long ago in the Twentieth Century, there lived three little pigs back in the wilds of Virginia. Time has obliterated their names, but that is unimportant. Let us just call them Di Phelt, Sovrane, and Kappa Taun.

At first, these little pigs got along beautifully together. They had found a shaft which they used as a walking stick, and when they went out for a stroll together, each little pig politely tried to give the other ones the shaft. One rainy day they all decided that they needed a newer and bigger house. They had no game room, no lounge, and the roof leaked great bucketsful. These little pigs had no voice in the pig government because they all had different political views and refused to co-operate.

In the spring of one year, the country fair was in that vicinity and each little pig decided he wanted to get the most pictures in the almanac, which was printed by the County Fair Association. Instead of waiting in line at the picture booth (they were called polls in those days) the little pigs argued and finally cut each other's heads off with the shaft that they had formerly shared so happily. The house that they had worked on so long and diligently crumbled and the little pigs, alas, were sliced and sold for bacon.

Moral: One united body is always better than three heads.

World Security Conference . . . And American Attitudes

Too many people are ready to deride a project before it has a decent chance to prove its mettle. With such an important goal as lasting world peace, this conference is bound to come upon many obstacles before reaching any degree of success. It is up to us as representative Americans not to hinder the progress of these plans by disparaging remarks and pessimism. Actually we do not know enough about world conditions and historical trends of being judges of such an important conference.

Already there has been reported some disagreement among the representatives. Stettinius was not given complete controlling power, but what right has the United States to expect to wield the greatest influence? These United Nations are to be equal, and that cannot be if one country is at the head. With division of power among various executive committees there will be less chance of dissension and dissatisfaction on the part of smaller countries.

One of the failings of the League of Nations was the lack of support given it by the United States. It was defeated before its contents were actually known. We must not let that happen again. Now we are better equipped to know the daily proceedings by constant reports from radio and newspaper. Our campus will be especially fortunate to receive accounts from the representatives sent by the Student Conference at Chapel Hill. These students will be there at the crest of the conference, and their opinions will be valuable to us as coming from other young people's viewpoint.

With the realization of the struggle and labor put forth to attain a lasting peace, we as the leaders of the near future should gladly assume the responsibility to do our part in making such a condition possible. Support the efforts of these trained minds and show the world that we are worthy of a civilization in which there is "Peace on Earth to men of good will."

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

In response to the letter which appeared in last week's FLAT HAT I should like to answer the questions which were brought before the Dance Committee.

In the first place, permission was not obtained for the use of the gym floor for the NAP dance. It was given due to the fact that finals were so crowded a definite need was felt for the extra room for big dances. This means that from now on students will be granted both gyms for large dances.

The $400.00 for refinishing the floor was not paid, and will not be paid in the near future as materials and labor for such cannot be obtained now.

In the second place, approximately $10.00 was spent by the Dance Committee toward the NAP dance. This money was spent for invitations, stamps, thumb tacks, pins and some paper. The remainder, including food, decorations, and corsages for the chaperones was paid for by the Navy. I ask you now, is $10.00 too much to spend when the NAPS contributed approximately $300.00 to our finals? Certainly the students cannot be that stingy with the dance fund.

As to the question of June finals with a name band; I should like to know how many students who so ardently demand this affair have actually considered the question.

Since we had no spring vacation a majority of the students are anxious to get home as soon as possible after exams are over. We cannot count on anything near the turnout we had for Dean Hudson. The $950.00 profit made on that dance has been earmarked for big dances next year. Do you want to throw it away and leave the dance fund where it was this fall?

Further, a band cannot be booked more than two or three weeks in advance due to wartime travel restrictions, and also because many name bands are in search of long bookings and aren't interested in one-night stands.

Lastly, it was said "the success of the Spring Finals was an indication of student enthusiasm." Yes, student enthusiasm as far as having a good time was concerned, but did you stop to realize that the entire week-end, from the booking the band to sponsoring the ticket sale to decorate and cleaning up was done by a group of your fellow students with very little cooperation? There was a great deal of good hard work behind spring finals, and just how many of you would be willing to work for two weeks during exams? Yes, it takes more than three people to do it!

Please consider these reasons seriously. I shall be very glad to answer any further questions.

Sincerely,
Marilyn Wood
(Chairman of the Dance Committee)

Columnist Cites Problem Of Campus Shop Tryst

By BILL ANDERSON

A few years ago when the need for a student book store and soda shop became apparent, the College renovated and built one in the College refectory building.

Just as any other new place, business flourished for sometime but as it became a routine place to go, business began to dwindle. Students went elsewhere and the popularity of the Wigwam decreased. Interest would pick up now and then, but it never became permanent.

Efforts were made the first of this year to establish its former place on the college calendar. Requests were made to the management to remain open later than seven in the evening, and pleas were made to the students to support it if they did. Always, someone had the right answer and the soda shop failed to remain open.

There must be some reason for this; what, we do not know. Maybe it is the location; maybe it is the idea; or maybe it's the students' failure to cooperate. It could be one of a number of things.

What is the students' shop like when it is open? Often we have heard this from both interested and disinterested parties.

Pannelled in light varnished wood-work, the Wigwam is equipped with the latest and finest soda fountain equipment. All tables are covered with inlaid linoleum and the floors are tiled to offer the least possible trouble in cleaning.

Paper cups are preferred in serving drinks to offer the utmost in sanitation and to eliminate the necessity of washing glasses. A modern dish washer has been installed and every possible means of expediting and eliminating arduous toil in serving the college clientele has been established. Truly, the soda shop is modern in every detail.

Service in the soda shop is courteous and with a smile. This compensates for your ten minute wait while a new employee finishes a joke in the office. You are never limited in a soda fountain delicacy to less than five items, even if the ice cream is too hard or too soft to serve.

Upon leaving a table, you are politely reminded by one of the four employees sitting in the back booth reading a current copy of Woman's Home Companion to "kindly return your dishes to the counter; table service has been discontinued due to shortage of labor"—and with a straight face, too. This is our students' shop.

If it is cigarettes you want, take your choice of the two off-brands from the tobacco counter. The popular brands are placed out for sale to the students at certain times, and you must abide by the rules. Of course if you are fortunate enough to be a dishwasher in the kitchen, you might obtain a pack of Chesterfields five minutes after a student has been told there are none. But even in war we must not be jealous, for this is our students' shop.

It is unfortunate, but true, that our students' shop will more readily furnish you a pack of cigarettes if you are a boy. Anyway, this hasn't happened more than five or six times so far as we know—not in our students' shop.

Yes, indeed, the second oldest college in America can really boast a modernistic arrangement in every detail and without exception, a routine establishment. Not many other institutions can make that statement.

With such a fine beginning, our chances for a super students' union building are terrific. We might have to take our shoes off before entering or pay a membership fee, but we don't have the union yet, so let's not talk about that now.

William and Mary Go-Round

By FRED FRECHETTE

When we talk of suitable memorials to the boys from William and Mary who have given their lives in this war, let us not forget what the boys themselves would have liked. We all know that there is no real memorial to these boys yet. There should be one, and there undoubtedly will be one. But consider first the boys themselves. Would they choose to have money spent on a statue? Probably not, because although it might be a beautiful statue, it would be doing none of them or the students any good.

There is a move afoot to have scholarships named after each of those boys. That is a nice thing, but would it serve as a constant reminder to them? Would scholarships be enough?

In Matoaka Park, we are fortunate enough to have one of the most beautiful woodland tracts in this part of Virginia. The lake and the walks around it offer great possibilities for picnics, outings, and just plain fun. Here we have the picture of one of our greatest assets served by one little broken-down "shelter." And shelter is about all that can be claimed for it.

All it amounts to is a fireplace with a roof.

Why couldn't we have a larger building erected in the place now occupied by our "shelter?" No more beautiful spot exists on campus. There, in the memory of, and for those boys, we could make a pleasant daily reminder of fellows who, like "Pappy" Fields, Johnny Bottalico, Bill Bembow, Johnny Grembowitz, Joe Holland, Bob Smidl, Dick Videto, Jack Camp, and Bob Johnston and the others who gave their lives so that we could continue to have a school like William and Mary.

Perhaps no person on campus knew as many of those boys as well as did "Proudly." Likable, quiet "Pappy" Fields was one of his closest friends. "Proudly" says of him that he would have liked nothing better than to have had a little place built down there on the lake for the students to use on their afternoons of leisure, or for moonlight dances.

I'm inclined to think that the boys would have liked something like that. And the boys who are still in the service still offering their lives would like something like that.

For the boys then, both gone and living, let us have our own little memorial built, deep in the woods they roamed so much, by the lake they knew so well.
